

Same user traffic, different compression: compression sets the load, allocation decides the loss

